

"The Deportee's Wife"

A one-woman show

Monday, November 9th
7PM in Smith Auditorium

Giselle brings a clear, distinctive and personal voice to a complicated issue that's often swept away between sound bites and political promises.

Giselle tells a love story you'll never forget.

Sponsored by Sociology, Peace Studies, and Campus Ministry and Social Action

Giselle Stern Hernández's marriage is laid out on the front lines of the North American immigration debate.

Her husband Roberto was deported from Chicago back to Mexico. She moved to Mexico to live with him. Giselle was born and raised in the States, and they were legally married. It didn't make a difference at all.
